CIRCUIT COURT.

Grand Jury Made Up And Given Instructions.

Heavy Docket for Term, With Two Murder Cases and About Thirty Divorce Suits.

Circuit Court convened in this city yesterday for a session of six weeks. Judge Cook opened court with prayer, and after delivering instructions to the grand jury, adjourned until to-day when the petit juries will be made up and work will begin in earnest.

There are about 500 cases on the docket, made up as follows: New appearances, (common law) 66; new appearances, (equity) 44; continued common law causes, 173; commonwealth cases, 143. This makes a total of 477 cases set for trial during the term. About 25 per cent. of the appearances are divorce petitions, there being twenty-eight of these new suits on the docket.

The Reuben Haynes murder case is set for to-morrow and the case of the Commonwealth against Jake Williams, charged with a similar offense, is set for Thursday.

GRAND JURY.

Following is a list of the grand jurors: T. P. Dunning, foreman; A. E. Word, David Boles, J. W. Gresham, J. M. Renshaw, Geo. W. Gee, Solomon Smith, A. F. Witty, J. A. Dollins, L. L. Nichols, John White and Maxey Lucas, colored.

Only ten of the twelve men selected reported for duty and the last two men were selected from bystanders.

LIFE SENTENCE.

Given Slayer Of Richard Lackey, Formerly Of Hopkinsville.

The trial of Joe Robinson, col., charged with the murder of Richard Lackey, col., formerly of this city, was held at Madisonville last week and resulted in a life sentence in the penitentiary for the prisoner.

During the holidays Robinson reported to the authorities that he had discovered the dead body of Richard Lackey in a room adjoining the one in which he and his wife lived. He reported that he knew nothing about the circumstances of his death and that he had discovered it by accident. He and Lackey lived in adjoining rooms in a negro tenement house. He reported that he had been chasing some dogs away and happened to glance the window of Lackey's room and saw his dead body lying on the floor. Other testimony, however, showed quite a different state of affairs.

Mrs. Hibbs, a white lady, testified that on the Friday before the Sunday on which Robinson reported the finding of the body Robinson and Lackey seemed to be engaged in a controversy and Robinson had fired two shots at Lackey who had gone into his room.

She thought no more of it and supposed that he had not been hit. But when the discovery of the dead body was made and the inquest held she told what she had seen and heard. On the strength of this statement from her and other corroborating circumstances which developed, Robinson was arrested charged with the murder of Lackey and his conviction followed.

Judge M. D. Brown, assisted Commonwealth's attorney Grayot in the prosecution.

P. O. BUILDING.

All Hope of Getting It Not to be Abandoned.

Some Light Thrown on the Question by Congressman Allen.

With assembling of Congress having been in session since December many of our people, not acquainted with the dictatorial of that body, have wondered if any attention had been given to erecting a government building in Hopkinsville, as it was reported favorably at its last session. Having been approached on the subject and being unacquainted with its status, we wrote a letter to Hon. H. D. Allen for information. Following is Mr. Allen's reply:

COMMITTEE ON AGRICULTURE,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVE U. S.,
Washington, D. C., Feb. 21st, 1902.

Mr. C. M. MEACHAM,

Hopkinsville, Ky.

DEAR SIR: I am in receipt of your favor of the 18th inst., asking me to tell you whether Hopkinsville has any chance of having a public building. I am wholly unable to give you positive answer about this matter. The evidence in the case, it seems to me, is sufficient to justify a public building, but there are so many bills pending it will be impossible to say which of them, or how many of them, will be favorably reported. I wish I could give you more definite information. Very truly yours,

H. D. ALLEN.

BROILER PLANT

On a Large Scale to be Started at Once.

Archie Higgins has sold out his interest in the cigar factory of Higgins & Co., and is preparing to start a large broiler and fancy poultry plant two miles south of the city on the Ferd Schmitt farm. Mr. Schmitt will be interested with Mr. Higgins in the business. Mr. Higgins has just returned from a visit to one of the largest plants of the kind in the United States, located at Sidney, Ohio. He obtained much valuable information and made a close study of the details of the business. The erection of the main building, which will be 700 by 38 feet, will begin this week, and Mr. Higgins, who will personally manage the plant, expects to begin operating his incubators by the 10th of March. The plant will be called the "Shield B Poultry Plant" and will be made one of the largest in the South. It will be located on a farm of 160 acres, two miles south of town. Besides raising broilers on a large scale, the plant will raise fancy poultry, Belgian Hares and Pheasants.

There is big money being made out of this business in many parts of the country, and the promoters of this new enterprise will no doubt make a distinct success of the undertaking.

GIVEN TWO YEARS.

Harris claimed that he shot at a dog and did not see the child, soon after his arrest he was brought to Hopkinsville on account of the threatening attitude of some of the people who talked about mobbing him.

MONTH OF MARCH

Will be One of Many Storms, Says Hicks.

Worst Clash Will be Central On 24th, Covering 21st to 26th.

Following is a summary of the weather for March, according to Hicks:

From about the first to the 4th heavy storms of rain, sleet, snow and wind will prevail. In the Southern and central portions of the country there will be very low barometric conditions, with sudden change to warm, southerly winds. Look out for dangerous tornadic storms.

All general storms at this time, and throughout the month, will be equinoctial in character; the first stages will be warm, with rain, lightning and thunder especially along the south and east sides of storm areas. To the west and northwest the rain will rapidly turn to sleet and snow, followed by a high barometer which will force cold waves and extreme wintry conditions for the season eastward and southward over almost the entire country. All through the Mercury period, which ends about the 10th, cloudy, threatening weather will prevail, but renewed storm conditions will be marked from about the 8th to the 10th inclusive. All sections dominated by warm, equatorial currents at this time will be visited by heavy thunder and lightning, and many Venus downpours of rain and hail. Chances are good for continued and general storms over the 10th and into the storm period extending from the 11th to 16th.

A reactionary storm period will be center on and about the 19th and 20th, at which time change to warm, falling barometer and winds areas of more rain and snow will pass eastward across the country, followed by a decided change to colder.

The storm period in which Borcas and the equinoctial powers will make one of their final and worst clashes is central on the 24th, covering the 21st to 26th. Dangerously high tides, attended with violent equinoctial gales and storms may be expected from 21st to 26th on the eastern coast, with snow and blizzards to many parts of the country, even in the central States.

The cold-weather that is sure to follow the last named storm period will change to much warmer as the month goes out, the barometer will again fall, and more reactionary rain and snow will visit many sections in their march eastward across the States.

Mrs. S. L. Bowling is visiting in Clarksville.

BUZZARDS.

Never Failing Object of Interest to Visitors at Charleston, S. C.

The Knoxville Sentinel publishes the following from a correspondent: Of all the odd pets I have ever seen or heard of it seems to me that Charleston's pet buzzards go up at the very top of the list. These buzzards are not only allowed to roost about the streets and market places at will, but their lives are protected by law. Recently I made my first visit to Charleston in order to attend the opening of the great Exposition in that city, which by the way, let me say here is an enterprise of great magnitude and most worthy of the praise and hearty support of the people of the entire country. While on the spot I determined to investigate and find out for myself about these strange pets of the city authorities.

I had always understood that Mr. Buzzard made his headquarters about the central market, which is situated on one of the principal streets, near the United States Custom House, and between the Charleston Hotel and the celebrated old church of St. Michael's. One bright morning I started out. To my great astonishment I soon walked right up to a flock of these ebony birds, picking at bones or loose scraps of meat, and moving about on the market pavement in quite a leisurely way as unconcerned about the life around them as chickens in a farmer's barnyard. The crowds of people going in and out of the market paid no more attention to these feathered monsters at their feet than we do to as many English sparrows on our streets.

I slowly drew nearer and nearer, all the time watching them closely, for I had never seen so near birds of this feather and odor in my life. I was surprised to find the sight so bewildering as well as entertaining. To me they seemed not only to be leisurely engaged in eating their morning repast, but were at the same time imitating many of the different characteristics of the human family. Their actions were so true to nature in many phases of human life that I almost felt I was witnessing a real play, the pavement before me the stage. Soon it occurred to me that these buzzards, perhaps, first became welcome visitors to the streets of Charleston some hundreds of years ago, not as scavengers, as the modern Charlestonian will now tell you. Let simple to entertain the people by their many odd and clever acts. I will here note a few of their performances, which I witnessed that morning.

One seemed to be the wag of the flock and would raise one wing much higher than the other, and in a swaggering, zigzag walk across the street, which act seemed at least highly satisfactory to himself.

Another would hold his wings in a most graceful position and give a few steps of that old time favorite dance known as the minuet.

Others would stand very erect while putting the tips of their wings close around their feet, and letting the upper parts stand out a little, giving them the appearance of imitating the members of the United States Supreme Court in their official gowns. Others appeared like prim, dignified widows in deepest mourning and with hearts bowed down with sorrow. Some looked like haughty broadshoulders with no poor kin and plenty of money to burn. Others gave an appearance of being poor and proud, warned just certain they belonged to the very first families of the land, and that in their veins flowed purer blood and more of it than any other buzzards in the whole flock, while others cut the old-fashioned "pigeon wing" with its many variations.

No wonder they are so haughty and without regard for the rights and feelings of others, for they have a trust founded upon the riches scavenger business in one of the oldest cities of the land, and theirs was, perhaps, the first trust in America. Trust magnates among men are always supposed to be defiant, and why should not they be likewise among buzzards?

I had not been looking at their entertainment long before they seemed to recognize me as a stranger from the country, for Charleston people never appear to notice them any more than they do the cobblestones in the streets they shot at me about the most dearest looks I ever had. I was plain shown that they regarded me as an intruder meddling with the affairs of my superiors and the sooner I would get about my business the better. Some of them acted as if they were enjoying among themselves a little bit of fun at my expense.

An old Charlestonian told me that the buzzards held undisputed rights there long before the Civil War, but during that period they entirely deserted the city. Soon after peace was declared they returned to their old haunts and again engaged in their old occupation in helping the best they knew how to keep Charleston clean. Their work must continue to be satisfactory to the people or the buzzard family could not continue to hold their jobs.

BOWEL TROUBLE IN FOWLS.

Some of the Causes and Some Remedies.

One cause of diarrhoea is coarse or half-cooked food. Too much bran, or only warming it with tepid water, leads to diarrhoea. The safe plan, to avoid this danger, is to bake, in milk pans for at least one hour, all chicken mash. Take no chances from half-cooked food, and am sure, from my own experience, that it pays well to take the extra time involved.

Avoid feeding sour milk to very young chicks, if it, in hot weather, is likely to produce bowel trouble. The a grit will loosen the discharge from the bowels.

A sudden shower sometimes kills young chicks as to produce diarrhoea.

Chicks with diarrhoea should first of all have a comfortable place to rest in. This does not mean they are to be cuddled. They are to have a good chance to get in the open air and on clean earth if they wish, with just as free an opportunity to get into a warm brooder when they so desire. The food should be either dry grain, with plenty of the right sized grit, well cooked mash that is not constipating. Mash to be of this character should contain less bran and more middlings and be mixed with milk and baked.

Hens have diarrhoea from improper feeding. Irregular, careless giving of food, too much to day, too little to-morrow, none at all the next day, upsets crop, gizzard and bowels.

Another source of bowel trouble is filthy drinking water. It is not enough to add each day water to that left over from the day before, never cleaning the dish. Water vessels should be rinsed every day and filled with fresh, clean water, not forgetting a weekly cleaning in warm weather.

Old hens that have been overfat and are breaking down as a result, often have a bad smelling diarrhoea.

Hens running wild to forage for themselves, seldom have diarrhoea, but it appears confined and dependent upon man for food and drink.

Give every bird with diarrhoea the chance to get at growing grass, if in the season of it; feed dry grain, largely wheat; add one teaspoonful tumeric iron to each quart of drinking water, and give in earthen vessels. If the attack of diarrhoea is sudden and acute, give one teaspoonful castor oil and follow it in an hour with three grains Dover's powder.

Diarrhoea is seen in some cases of scrofula, consumption and tuberculosis and will be considered in connection with those diseases. — American Poultry Journal.

Black Leghorn Hen Turns White.

MR. EDITOR:—I write you to tell you of a Black Leghorn hen I have, now seven years old. At her first molt she showed probably one-eighth white in her plumage, and in every molt until the summer of 1900, when she was almost pure white with a small straight comb and white legs. At first her comb was large for a Leghorn, but at present it is not three-fourths of an inch high.

On her molt last fall quite a number of black feathers appeared. This hen has been one of my best layers, both summer and winter. Usually she begins laying about Dec. 1st and continually lays about four eggs a week until she molts. Of course she will at times take a rest for a few days, and then she will go at it again. She is now laying on an average four eggs a week, and has since Dec. 10. How is this for a hen seven years old in April next? In her third and fourth years she hatched and reared a brood of chicks, the only time she has been broody.—A. S. Hoffman, Farm country.

"Quick lunch" is one of the commonest of city signs. The sign doesn't say "a healthy lunch of good food—the character of the food apparently is not considered. It's just a quick lunch—eat and get away." If any wonder why stomach trouble down? Food is thrown at it, sloppily, indigestible and inedible food, very often, and the stomach has to do the best it can. Normally there should be no need for medical assistance for the stomach. But the average person does not know this, and this continues there will always be a demand for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It is the one medicine which can be relied on to cure diseases of the stomach and the organs connected and the blood. It is not a cure all. It is a medicine designed for the stomach and to cure through the stomach remote diseases which have their cause in the derangement of the stomach and digestive and nutritive system. It cures when all else fails.

VALUE OF THE TRAP NEST.

It is Not Such a Lot of Trouble, Either.

The advent of trap nests has been the means of more good in poultry culture than any other invention of recent years, writes M. K. Boyer in New England Homestead. Before its introduction the poultry breeder made entirely too much guess work.

For instance, the problem of increased egg production was solved of a "hit-or-miss" plan. Breeders selected such birds as, in their opinion, showed the best laying qualities, and while in some cases they succeeded in picking out the cream of the flock, in many instances they were misled. Repeated experiments with the trap nest proved the fact that in many cases the best specimen in the flock is about the poorest specimen in outward markings. Two years ago I discovered that the finest hen in my Light Brahma yard, a hen that was to exhibit only 11 eggs during the entire year, was the best hen worth keeping. In the same pen a hen that would be disqualified by any judge laid 150 eggs. The trap nest picks out your best hens.

The poultryman's motto should be, "Breed from the best."

The trap nest arrests the egg eater. Sentence should be pronounced upon such at once. It picks out the drosses, enabling you to get rid of unprofitable stock.

It not only selects your best layers, but it gives their record.

It avoids crowding in the nest, guarding against breaking eggs, etc., which are your best winter layers, which are the most fertile eggs, the most perfectly shaped eggs, and which are your brown-egg layers. Other advantages that might be mentioned are that by frequent handling, as is the case by taking hens off the nest, the hens become more tame, and are less likely to scare. All poultry breeders know that excited hens are unprofitable layers.

By handling hens, too, the breeder is able to quickly determine the fowl's condition, note the first sign of sickness or injury.

In short by the use of the trap nest the breeder can keep in touch with the individual hen, know her good and bad qualities, and satisfy himself of her general condition. I know of no other system that will give such practical lessons as these nests, and the common verdict by all who have used them is that the only guidepost to successful work and a building up of a profitable laying strain is the careful use of some well developed trap.

The only objection that seems to be aimed at the use of trap nests is that they "require much attention." I visit my pens every day, and only at the traps that are closed. To look after fifty nests does not take five minutes, and probably would not take that long were the nests not located in different houses on the farm. Not more than three-quarters of an hour in the day is consumed at this work, and I asked the question, "Could this time be put to more profitable use?" In knowing which are the unprofitable hens one is enabled to market them. This not only saves feed but gives the workers of the flock more room. This thinning out prevents overcrowding, which means better health, better laying and stronger fertility, paying twofold for the little time spent in their care.

Favus, or Sore Head.

Favus is a disease of the scalp, caused by a vegetable parasite, and the treatment recommended is an ointment composed of two per cent carbolic acid and vaseline.

The "carbolicized" vaseline of the drug store is the substance used.

Sore head prevails in southern states more than in the north, and sometimes much difficulty is experienced in its cure.

Good results will also result if the carbolicized vaseline is reinforced by cedar oil, such as an ounce of the carbolicized vaseline, a teaspoonful of cedar oil and a level tablespoonful of cedar oil, and a level tablespoonful of fine, pulverized sulphur.

Apply once a day until the difficulty is removed.

It will also cure the scabby legs in poultry.

Apply the remedy moderately warm.

ANNOUNCEMENT:

We are authorized to announce
MR. WEBB C. BELL,
Of Christian County, as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner, of the Seventh District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election Nov. 1902.The Capitol Removal bill has been killed by the Senate.A warm spell is promised now,
with a general breaking up of ice
in the streams.The Louisville Commercial Club gave an elaborate banquet to the Legislature Friday night.The fire insurance companies have announced a general advance of rates all over the country, of about 25 per cent. The raise is to take effect at once.Prince Henry arrived at New York Sunday, after hours late and is now in Washington. While at sea the prince sent a wireless telegraphic message to President Roosevelt and found the reply waiting for him at New York.Judge Owen has decided the contest of Pettit vs. Yewell, for Mayor of Owensboro, in favor of Yewell, Republican, by an increased majority over the official figures.Terr McGovern, former featherweight champion, knocked Dave Sullivan out in the fifteenth round,
at Louisville Saturday night, in a contest between the Southern Athletic Club. Bob Fitzsimmons was referee.The Illinois Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the Cook County Criminal Court in the case of Wm. A. Paulson, president of the Central Trust and Savings Company, who was convicted for receiving deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent, and sent to the Joliet penitentiary.Miss Ellen Stone, the American Missionary, and her companion,
Mme. Tsilka, who have been held for ransom by Macedonian brigands
since September 3, were released last week and are now with their friends. The ransom of $70,000
was paid two weeks ago. Mme.
Tsilka gave birth to a child while in captivity, which was also rescued.The lower House of Congress has passed a resolution providing that U. S. Senators shall be elected by the people. The sentiment of the house was so overwhelming that there was no opposition to the proposed amendment and no roll-call.
This is the fourth time the House has declared itself in favor of the election of Senators in this way, and three times it has been killed in the Senate. It looks like the Senators are afraid they will not be re-elected.Senators McLaurin and Tillman had a fist fight in the United States Senate Friday. Tillman accused McLaurin of selling his vote for the control of State patronage.
McLaurin gave Tillman the lie and the set-to resulted, with Tillman the aggressor. They were separated with difficulty. Both Senators apologized to the Senate, but Tillman is liable to be severely censured and suspended from the privileges of the floor for thirty days.

W. P. Keast, Woodstock, Ill., took Hood's Sarsaparilla to make his blood pure. He writes that he had not felt well but tired for some time. Before he had taken the first dose of Hood's Sarsaparilla he felt well and when he had taken the second was like another man—free from that tired feeling and able to do his work.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Accept no substitute, but get Hood's today.

TOO HONEST OFFICIALS.

There is a very evident disposition on the part of the Legislature to give the Beckham administration rope and let it hang itself so high that will be no serious obstacles in the way of a new and clean deal in State politics next year. Gov. Beckham has already made a record for pardoning gamblers and mountain murderers before trial and has shown such a decided preference for crap-shooters and poker-players for Asylum officials that the Senate—or rather a majority of the Senators—consented to have the administration represented in the Western Asylum by a bunch of confessed gamblers.As the people of Kentucky, the christian law-abiding people, will not endorse by their vote the conversion of the insane Asylums of the State into gambling hell. The only conclusion is that the Governor's enemies have joined with his friends in the Senate to hasten his record upon him and emphasize this bold defiance of public sentiment. It had been hope that the Senators as individuals would have opposed the confirmation of these law-breakers and thus have spared
the Democratic party the shame of having to make a defensive campaign next year.The Senate Committee on Charitable Institutions has taken still another step in its desire to place
the entire responsibility of Asylum mismanagement upon the administration. The Board of Commissioners hold office for six years and cannot be removed under the law
except by impeachment proceedings begun in the House and tried in the Senate. It is a perpetual body, that laps from one administration to another, no Governor appointing more than six of the nine members.
Gov. Beckham has appointed six of the present Board, two in 1900 and four but recently, one of his three first appointees having resigned.Messrs. Knight, Breathitt and Shryer have two years more to serve. The Governor now desires to get rid of these three commissioners and Messrs. Ware and Walker whom he appointed two years ago.In the recent attempts to corrupt the morals and squander
the funds of the Asylum, these five commissioners and their four associates who have retired, were
as one man in upholding the law and protecting as best they could the interests of the State.There are now many bills of questionable character hung up in the Board, that have been disallowed because the Board did not believe they were just and because the expenses of the Asylum have been increased about $28,000 over 1899 and it was necessary to call a halt in the waste of the public money, for which the Board is held responsible.The commissioners who have proved themselves too honest and too mindful of their oaths, are men of the highest character, representing both political parties and their proposed impeachment and removal
by the General Assembly is regarded as a matter so farical in its very nature that it is difficult to treat it as a serious proposition.There are few enough public officials in these degenerate times who perform their duties faithfully and the proposition to degrade men of the highest personal character for a simple performance of their sworn duties, is as bold as it is ridiculous.The commissioners who have

TO STUFF HENRY.

Preparations to Make Luncheon
Surpass Anything of the Kind.Of all the entertainments organized in honor of Prince Henry there will be none more elaborate than the luncheon to be given for him at Sherry's, in New York, by the representatives of American finance, trade and industry. The moving spirit in the affair is J. Pierpont Morgan. In the way of giving the royal visitor an idea of the possibilities of American gastronomy it is projected to surpass anything of the kind that has ever taken place before. The cost of the luncheon will be great, and among the items of expense will be the highly ornate liveries now being made for the entire staff of waiters employed in connection with the entertainment. The Prince and his entertainers will be surrounded by servitors who will look as if they had stepped out of a canvas painted in the days of the Georges of England. Each of these servitors, smooth shaven and of impulsive countenance, will wear of the conventional swallow tail, a black cloth coat, with seven cloth-covered black buttons on either side, beginning at the neck and extending to the waist. A fine piece of black brassards from the shoulder to the edge of the coat, which is without lapels and has a clerical collar. A white stock encircles the neck and at the front of the throat is a white satin bow.Under the coat is a white buttonless waistcoat, the bottom coming well down over the waistband of the black plush breeches of full cut,
gathered in at the knee with a band
which tops a pair of white stockings. Patent leather pumps, with buckles, complete the costume.
The whole outfit is a complete reproduction of the livery used in England a century ago, but in much finer texture.

Horses and Tules.

I will be at C. H. Layne's stable
in Hopkinsville, Ky., Saturday, March 1, 1902, for the purpose of buying two carloads of fat horses and mules. Will buy all ages, but they must be fat. Get your stock ready for market and bring them in and get the cash for them.

Why Easter is a "Moveable" Feast.

During all of March the sun is coming farther North. About the twentieth it shives directly on the Equator, and the day is just as long as the night. The time of the old Jewish Passover, and hence of our Easter, depends on this date.
This latter always comes on the Sunday following the first full moon after the sun crosses the line. This accounts for its being so "moveable".

Feast.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

Minstrels March 8.

Rusco & Holland's Minstrels
will appear at Holland's Opera House Saturday, March 8, for matine and night performance.

My Hair

"I had a very severe sickness that took off all my hair. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor and it brought all my hair back again." W. D. Quinn, Marseilles, Ill.

One thing is certain, Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow. This is because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair and the hair grows, that's all there is to it. It stops falling of the hair, too, and always restores color to gray hair.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send us one dollar and we will express you a bottle. Be sure and give the name of your druggist. Address: J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

DR. NEWMAN HALL.

Well Known Divine, Who Really Built Lincoln Tower, London, is Dead.

London, Feb. 18.—The Rev. Dr. Newman Hall, the well-known divine and author of many religious treatises died to-day at the age of 87.

Dr. Hall, was a brother of Capt. J. W. Hall, who commanded the Great Eastern steamship on her first voyage across the Atlantic.

When the Civil War broke out in the United States he advocated the Northern cause in the interest of union and freedom. He afterward made two extensive trips through the United States for the purpose of allaying the bitter feeling toward Great Britain and of promoting international good will. He opened a public subscription which finally resulted in the building of "Lincoln" Tower, adjoining Christ's Church in London.

Smooth That Will Do Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to advise them to buy a bottle of one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family, that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt, but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we urge you to consider, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their houses as a safeguard against croup.—Canden (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by all druggists.

Business Change.

Mr. Robert Cooke has purchased the interest of J. H. Morgan in the general merchandise business of Morgan & Massie, at Elmo. The business will be continued under the firm name of Massie & Cooke.

LOCAL LEAFLETS.

Last Saturday was the first day for four weeks that we had sunshines all day. A larger number of people were here than had been in town since Christmas eve week.

All the merchants in the city were busy last Saturday.

Last Saturday was the anniversary of Washington's birthday. Only the banks and postoffice were closed.

The fire department was trying a couple of new horses Saturday with a view of purchasing.

The thaw is playing havoc with the pavements. In many parts of the city the paving bricks are turned upside down, end upwards, sideways and many other ways, that cause pedestrians to shun them.

Circuit Court, which will continue in session for six weeks convened yesterday with an unusually heavy docket.

Eggs are scarce and high.

Loose tobacco is coming in in large quantities.

The Rock Bridge stemmery is now working about one hundred hands.

A large chicken "plant" is the last industry projected. The business of raising chickens for market will be on a large scale.

February is the month for making maple sugar. On account of the continued freezing weather the trees will "run" behind time a month this year.

If you didn't prune your grapes last fall, do so as early as possible to keep them from bleeding, when the sap starts.

There will be no peaches and probably no apples this year, so have all the grapes you can.

Quite an improvement has been made in the appearance of the County Court room by the recent painting, papering, etc.

Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism

"During the winter of 1898 I was so lame in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly bob around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the first application I began to get well and was cured and have worked steadily all the year.—R. Wheeler, Northwood, N. Y. For sale by all druggists.

Helen Keller's Own Story of Her Life.

Helen Keller, the remarkable deaf, dumb and blind girl, who has not only learned to talk, but enjoys every privilege of those who hear and see, has just finished writing with her own hands the story of her remarkable life for the Ladies' Home Journal. In this she describes her first awakening to the realization of life and the world, and all that both contain; her first impressions and feelings and emotions, and the first rays of understanding that came to her. From that point she tells of the unfolding of her mental and physical powers, how she learned to think and act, how she received instruction, and finally became capable of acquiring an education which places her among the best educated women of her age in the world to-day. It will begin in the April number of the Journal.

Accepted Charge at Trenton.

Elder H. A. Macdonald, of Cadiz, has accepted the pastorate of the Christian church at Trenton and preached his initial sermon Sunday. The Trenton Democrat says it is probable that Elder Macdonald will move his family to that place some time in June.

Mr. M. C. Cash, J. T. McCord and John Soles were yesterday appointed deputy county clerks.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

On the Death of Bro. J. A. Coleman to Church Hill Grange, No. 190.

The grim reaper death has again invaded our ranks, and taken from us our worthy and loved Brother J. A. Coleman.

Brother Coleman was a man of many estimable traits of character, strong minded, but gentle and courteous in manner. He was ever ready to do a kindness for a friend or neighbor, was a skilled mechanic and one of the best farmers in the county, a thorough gentleman and Christian. He was seventy years old, and every trust was garnered like a ripe sheaf into the Paradise of God.

Resolved 1st. That in the death of Bro. Coleman his family has lost a loving husband, a kind and generous father, the Grange a useful member and the community a good neighbor and kind friend.

Resolved 2d. That we tender to the bereaved family in their great sorrow our sincere and heartfelt sympathy.

Resolved 3d. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother and a copy be recorded in our proceedings.

J. D. CLARDY,
M. B. KING,
J. B. WALKER.

POWER IN POLITICS.

A Popular Delusion About Abraham Lincoln Corrected.

He Was Neither a Dark Horse Nor an Accident When Nominated by the Republicans for President in 1860.

An Iowa writer who is telling about the number of great men which his state has produced in the past few years says that although Secretary Leslie M. Shaw has only four or five years of service in the Senate, he has left to the nation more than Lincoln was when he was nominated for president. The notion that Lincoln was unknown outside of his own state until his nomination for president has been exploded by the most informed writers than ever. It must here be referred to, but it is a delusion just the same, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Lincoln served a term in congress, the latter part of the sixties, and though he did not have a national reputation then, he was sufficiently well known throughout the country in 1856, at the time when the republican party's first national convention was held, to get 110 votes in that convention for vice-president. He was chosen by Fremont, as compared with 40 for Banks, who had just been elected speaker of the house in the longest and most exciting contest for that office which has taken place in the history of the country. In 1856, Lincoln, the author of the celebrated anti-slavery platform, Dayton, however, was nominated. That was four years before Lincoln's nomination for president. In 1858, when he came into Illinois against Douglas in the contest for the U. S. Senate, he had a reputation which extended all over the country, and which brought his name up in connection with the republican national leader-

"You Are So Slow."

If the woman at work should make answer to the other woman, she might, perhaps, say: "I am never late, but I have been so busy with my work that it seemed that every movement would break it in two." It's bad enough for a woman to be late, but when she reaches the slave at the same time she reaches the limit of her endurance.

Weak women who have been made strong by the use of Dr. T. H. E. L. F. Pierce's Patent Remedy, recommend it to others as a good one. It establishes regularity, drives weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I have been alive some time now, being troubled with female weakness," says Chester Co., Pa. "Every month I would have to be sent to the doctor and pay him a visit, and nothing gave me relief until I began Dr. Pierce's medicine. I am now in full strength again and have two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines are not to be despised, but now I do the work for my family and friends, and I am in full strength for a year now."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure all lassitude and sick headache. They do not create the pin habit.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Some stories are too true to be good.

Truth is mighty—mighty inconvenient in a horse trade.

A man is often lucky when he fails to get what he wants.

The dividing line between smiles and tears is a very narrow one.

All is not gold that glows up in a glittering mining prospectus.

The stuttering mad is not always truthful, yet he sticks to his word.

A painter may not be superstitious, yet is apt believes in signs.

There are times when the loveliest spot on earth looks suspiciously like an acre.

From the rural maiden's point of view the city girl is the greenest thing on earth.

Ask a girl for a corkscrew and if she brings you a garter her market value is away above par.

If the phoenix of common sense rises from the ashes of a fool's misery the conflagration has not been in vain.

CURE Rheumatism and Catarrh—Medicine Sent Free.

Send no money—simply write and try Botanic Blood Balm at our expense. Botanic Blood Balm (B.B.B.) relieves or destroys the poison in the blood which causes the aches, bone pains, swollen muscles and joints of rheumatism, catarrh, etc. It had powerful friends among the republican statesmen and newspapers of every state in the union at that time, and that was nearly three months before the convention which nominated him for president.

The person who asserts that Lincoln was suddenly sprung upon the country

as a presidential quantity knows nothing about the politics of 1856-60. When Lincoln, by independent means, when he was a young man, made his historic address at Cooper Institute, in New York city, on February 27, 1860, the Tribune

declared next morning that "since the days of Clay and Webster no man has spoken to a larger assemblage of men and women on a subject of such importance." Careless or ignorant persons, in particular, are in the habit of insisting that Lincoln, at the time of his nomination in 1860, was a sort of a dark horse or an accident, but such assertions make a wide divergence from the facts.

The Country's Death Rate.

A recent bulletin of the United States census compares the mortality of 1890 and that of 1900, and shows that there has been a diminution

of some 100,000,000 in the death rate. In 1890 the average longevity in the United States was 31.3 years; in 1900 it is 35.2 years.

The increase is 13.7 per cent. This is the case with all the races, so far as is concerned, and it represents the facts

for the whole country approximately.

In 1894 245 persons died of consumption.

In every 10,000, in 1900 only 190.

The case is similar, though not so marked, with other diseases, such as typhoid, bronchitis, typhoid, cholera infantum and the like. The main causes are a perfect hygiene of towns and the progress of medicine.

Pneumonia, however, claimed 192 vic-

times per 10,000 in 1900 to 187 in 1890.

Oldest Man in America.

The claim of Martin Head, of Na-

poles, N. J., to being the oldest man in the United States is now disputed. Noah Babu, of New Jersey, who is at the Pascataway poor farm, located near New Brunswick, claims to be between 120 and 130 years old.

Race of Spotted People.

A tribe of peculiar people dwell on the banks of the Purus, in South America. Men, women and children are spotted, with brown spots on a white skin. Their chief article of diet is fish.

Twenty-three Years.

In view of the fact that the KENTUCKIAN has wound up its 23rd year of success, it is not out of place to say a word to its friends. The KENTUCKIAN has long since become a fixture of Hopkinsville.

All Newspaper Records in the City Have Been Broken by it.

No other paper ever published in Hopkinsville can point to a record of more than 20 years, with each year's business better than the one before. How many papers in that time have tried to run in Hopkinsville and fallen by the wayside? How many have failed to reach the goal?

An ocean cable 10,000 miles long would not serve the purpose for which it was designed if it fell short within twenty feet of the receiving-instrument.

It isn't the first end that counts. It's the last end. The start is nothing. Every contestant starts in a race, but how many finish? Almost any horse can begin in a race. Wish a few trials, ever an old plug may get away from the wire all right, but it's the coming under the wire for the last time that counts, it's being in the race to the finish that is alone valuable.

A great many things in this world are made to begin well enough, but they fall short.

The KENTUCKIAN as an advertising medium has never fallen short. As a news medium, occupying a field of its own choosing, it has for 20 years stood squarely upon its merits and succeeded.

WHERE OTHERS FAILED.

Advertisers should bear this in mind. Money spent for Newspaper Advertising is an investment. It is not how much the advertising costs, but how large will be the returns. The mission of Newspaper Advertising is to Sell Goods. When the careful merchant has decided the important question as to the right medium, then, by attractive display advertising in that medium, he will inevitably increase sales. This result follows as surely as day follows night. The is the medium that pays, because it reaches the people. It has among its patrons advertisers who have been with it without a break for 12 to 15 years. It numbers the very best class of advertisers in their respective lines of business.

Kentuckian

If you are not already a customer of ours, we want to make you one, and your advertising
ONE OF OUR SPECIALTIES.

Newspaper advertising has become an indispensable adjunct to business. You need the advertising, we have the space to sell. Come less do business with each other.

And to the reading public, remember we cover the entire news field twice a week for only $2 a year. At least one half of the news we give is in advance of other publications, because our facilities for gathering out-of-town news are equaled by none. If your time is out renew promptly. If you have never taken the KENTUCKIAN, try it for 1902.

NO JOKE TO THEM.
Where Skunks Were Numerous During the Autumn.

Tosay that East Deering and Lunn's Corners are overrun with skunks may seem a joke to most people, but it is far from being regarded a joke, says the Portland (Me.) Advertiser, by the good citizens of these thriving districts. These animals with the frightful smell are everywhere about that region in unlimited numbers. In former years the skunks have been plentiful, but never before to the extent that they are now. Persons are timid about going out nights for fear of meeting a skunk, and when they do go it is with fear and trembling.

A family living upon the high ground report that they saw 15 skunks together one evening, and that their grounds have been the rendezvous for all the pests of that kind in the vicinity. A few nights ago a gentleman went home in the latter part of the evening and just as he was going to enter his front yard he stepped on a skunk, which at once filled the whole neighborhood with its odor. He has ever since had his clothes, including a brand-new overcoat, hanging out on a line, hoping that the scent would leave them. At last accounts the garments could be smelled for half a mile.

One day last week a lady heard her dog barking out on the piazza. She opened the door to see what was the matter, when she saw a skunk not three feet from the door, being held <sup>as</sup> by the dog. As soon as the skunk saw the open door he made for it, and the lady had barely time to shut it and keep Mr. Skunk out of her house.

Several of the animals have been trapped and a few have been shot, but this has not seemed to lessen the number in the smallest degree. The nuisance continues and there is no way to abate it, to the knowledge of those who live there.

The other night a score of men were going to their homes in an electric car, when one of these animals got under the wheels. The skunk was killed, but such a frightful smell the passengers had never experienced before. It penetrated their clothing and they took to their homes a generous share of the odor. One man said that it seemed to be all through him. He washed his hair and took a bath, but he smelled as bad as ever.

AN EASTERN CUSTOM.

Origin of the Baring of the Feet at Worship.

In India Hindus and Moslems alike wear both sandals and shoes (slippers), and the latter boots also. The sandals (the word is Persian) was evidently the original covering for the feet over all southern and eastern Asia, while the shoe was probably introduced into India by the Persians, Afghans and Mongols, together with the "tip-filled" (Hittite and Etruscan) boot. Both are usually made in India of leather, but never of skin, and while the shoes are always colored red or yellow, the boots are generally brightly parti-colored, both among the upper classes, being so richly embroidered in gold and silver and variegated silk thread and with bangles, bugles and seed pearls, after the manner of the ancient Persian boots represented on Greek vases. But, of however rare and costly elaboration, the invariable rule is to remove them after entering a private house, just when stepping on the mat or carpet on which the visitor takes his seat. They must be cast off—the right boot or shoe first—before the worshiper enters a temple or mosque, and it is still regarded as an absolute profanation to attempt to enter either fully shod. But the domestic habit, says the Athenaeum, arose out of its obvious propriety, and the religious rite of "the shoes of the faithful," now and for centuries past observed throughout Islam, can be demonstrated to have been dictated by, if indeed it is not derived directly from, the universal social etiquette of the cast.

One Good Point About Adam.

Adam had his faults—but he never called Eve's attention to the superior biscuits his mother manufactured.—Chicago Daily News.

Alexander's Moia.

Alexander the Great had a large mole on the right side of his neck. It was regarded by his contemporaries as a sign of good luck.

THREE WOMEN LEFT

When Evangelist Insisted That Ladies Remove Their Hats.

Evangelist Allen Wilson, in a revival at the fashionable Central Christian church at Anderson, Ind., insisted that ladies in the congregation should remove their hats. Three women left the crowded auditorium, but all others uncovered their heads. Mr. Wilson said that no preacher can reach or inspire man or other sinners who might be in or behind a wilderness of hats surmounted by deposed weasels and chameleons, skins, beads, straw, paper, stick pins, jet, flowers, tassels and thistle down. The audience smiled, became hatless, and the services proceeded.

Tennessee Business College

Was founded March 5, 1901, and has been in progress ever since, and with the greatest results and encouragement. We have had a large enrollment and have secured positions for every one of our graduates, without a single exception, and many of them are holding some of the most responsible positions, with salaries ranging from $35 to $125 a month. No better school anywhere.

We have four of the very best teachers of experience, who are graduates of the very best colleges in the South.

You can get no better, no more thorough courses anywhere. We are working for our reputation, hence it is to our advantage to thoroughly prepare our students and place them in good positions.

We are connected with three Employment Agencies in our cities and are having many more calls for book-keepers and stenographers every week than we can possibly supply. All you have to do is to take a thorough course with us, and the consequences will take care of themselves.

Our tuition is lower than anywhere else. We have a good boarding house to take all our students at $8 to $10 a month. This school is permanent. Write for Catalogue.
